The 26A bus replaces the No. 28 service, which in the morning will now start from Pattenden Lane, Marden, continue through Chainhurst, reaching the bends at the bottom of East Street at around 0730 and the stop outside the old post office on Hunton Hill at 0736. The afternoon 26A service will leave King Street, Maidstone at 1603, reaching East Street/Hunton Hill at 1622 and then continuing along East Street to Pattenden Lane for set downs only. The full timetable is available at www.nu-venture.co.uk

A little practical advice

If, like the writer of this welcome pack, you have always lived in town but wanted to enjoy life in the country here are a few things that might be useful to you:

Lighting your wood burner/fire (article taken from Country Living magazine – Jan 2012)

‘Most types of wood when unseasoned, or green, are too full of sap and water to burn effectively (ash is the exception). If buying from a log merchant, check that your load will be well seasoned and ready to throw on the fire. If you are still unsure, or storing it yourself, use a moisture monitor (available at stove shops) to detect when the timber’s content is below 25%. Until then, store in a pile with plenty of air circulating around it.

When your wood is ready, make a wigwam of kindling – twigs gathered from the woodland floor and dried out, or old pallets sawn into small batons – over a few crunched up sheets of newspaper. Once the paper is lit in several places, this is the foundation of your fire. Other items to give it extra spark include fir cones, loose, dry bark and cardboard. When the kindling is roaring (if using a stove, open up the vent fully or for an open hearth, use bellows to fan the flames), start by adding one log and then more once the fire is established (in a wood burner, leave the vent partially open to keep it steady). Continue to stir and feed when necessary.

On particularly cold evenings, you may wish to stoke up the fire in a stove so its packed with logs and almost close the air vent so that it burns gently overnight and keeps your home warm till morning. Hardwoods such as oak and hornbeam are best suited to this as they are dense and slow burning’.

More suggestions and handy tips from the residents of Hunton to help you on your way

Save money by collecting kindling throughout the year. Collect up twigs and branches that have fallen down in the winds or keep the wood from trees that have been sawn down in your garden. Keep the kindling dry to ensure it is fully dried out to use in autumn and winter.

Chestnut is best for wood burners but mix oak and other hardwoods to prolong the heat in your wood burner. Over the winter save and dry your tangerine peelings – it makes good kindling.

Do have your chimney swept every year as birds love to nest on the top and soot builds up very quickly so it is easy to have a chimney fire!

Hunton is surrounded by a wonderful collection of public footpaths including a section of the Greensand Way to the North of the village.

Life doesn't have to stop once the dark nights arrive. Remember to take a torch and wear a high vis jacket when out and about after dark. Make sure you can be seen and keep safe.

Join the oil club for cheaper oil prices. Go to www.oil-club.co.uk and join the West Farleigh, Hunton and East Farleigh Heating Oil Club.
